Introduction

The diversity of internationals that live in and immigrate to the northern Virginia area creates a great need for English language instruction. English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) is our church's program to meet this need. Through teaching conversational English and American culture, relationships are formed which allow the opportunity for participants to be introduced to Jesus. This is accomplished through language instruction, conversations with church members, and loving hospitality.

About ESOL

Mission and vision

Est. 1995

ESOL's goal is to assist international guests in the very practical need of communicating by teaching conversational English and American culture. Along the way, personal relationships between our members and participants are formed which allows them to share the love of Christ.

Partnering to share the good news

Est. 1995 - present

The ESOL program was started by Jane Wills (who was later sent by our church as a missionary to North Africa) in 1995. It has grown now to include just over a hundred participants in six learning levels.

Making a difference

Supporting our partners

Our church's giving pays for all instruction materials and food needed for the program each year as well as any registration costs for participants who cannot purchase their own instructional materials.
